Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 24-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The specification as originally filed does not provide support for the elements having ends proximal the roller mounted in a fixed position on the roller and having a protuberance extending beyond a virtual cylinder in which are inscribed the tweezing edges of the blades. The specification does not state that the protuberances as shown in fig. 8, which is the only embodiment which has an element which is mounted in a fixed position on the roller, extend beyond the tweezing edges. They clearly extend beyond the surface of the threading members 6, but no disclosure alludes to the extension of the protuberances beyond the tweezing edges. The specification also fails to detail that the outer surface of the threading members are on the cylinder inscribing the tweezer edges. None of the elements which are fixedly mounted to the roller has a base in the pedestal connected to several protuberances or where the element on the pedestal is a rod. Also not disclosed is that the elements are a protruding elongated edge of an oblique external face of a pedestal.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 39 is allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 03-19-03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The examiner disagrees that the embodiments of fig. 5,6 or 9 read on the new claim language. Since the element is claimed as contacting the skin, the element in fig. 6 must include wheel 16. This wheel is in no way fixedly mounted on the roller. The fact that the part which actuates the element is fixed to the roller does not provide support for the element being fixed to the roller. Likewise element 9 or 37 of fig. 9 moves and is in no way fixedly mounted to the roller. The examiner also fails to see how the claims of the patent necessarily cover all of the types of the elements disclosed by the patent.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
